

Hercules Tires Strengthens Sports Marketing Portfolio One Basket at a Time

Hercules
FINDLAY, OHIO

In 2020, Hercules Tires launched an exclusive, multi-year partnership with 32 colleges and universities, spanning eight NCAA conferences, that was secured and activated through Van Wagner. Now, Hercules Tires, a subsidiary of American Tire Distributors (ATD), continues to build its legendary sports marketing portfolio with two additional sponsorships on the basketball court - the Hercules Tires Ultimate Fanatic Basketball Contest and Hercules Tires Big South Campus Tour. These sponsorships are the company's latest initiatives meant to grow brand awareness and build connection across local communities.

The Hercules Tires Ultimate Fanatic Basketball Contest provides a chance for participants to showcase their school spirit through a 20-second Instagram video. Not only will they showcase why their team is the best, but they'll also demonstrate how they're the ultimate fan. The winner will receive two tickets to the 2022 Men's or Women's Conference Basketball Championship. Other prizes include a swag pack with their favorite college gear and a $50 Amazon gift card.

"We're proud to support the colleges and universities in our Hercules Tires-sponsored conferences and look forward to seeing all of the creativity and school spirit," said Josh Simpson, senior vice president of Hercules Tires. "This provides us with another way to support our local communities and get the Hercules name out there so these die-hard basketball fans know that Hercules will deliver the performance they expect with the choices and affordability they deserve."

In addition, Hercules tipped off its annual Hercules Tires Big South Campus Tour by hosting men's basketball virtual game promotions with each Big South institution this month. The tour looks different this year due to COVID-19 restrictions with a new digital engagement platform allowing fans to participate from the safety of their own homes. Fans are also able to answer trivia questions on game days, giving them the chance to win prizes, including custom ear pods and other Hercules Tires swag.

"We hope these prizes and promotions bring the game day excitement to fans and help them feel like they're back in the stands at a big game," said Simpson. "We're excited to have the opportunity to engage with these loyal fans at a grassroots level and introduce them to the Hercules brand. We want them to know that next time, when it's time to make a tire purchase, we'll be right there at their side."

Both basketball activations are set to run through the end of February. For more information, please see the full details below.

Hercules Tires Ultimate Fanatic Basketball Contest
